Culture pop Spring Summer 2018

With punchy tones and sharp lines, this summer-ready trend is all about celebrating the coolest colour combinations at home.

Rebecca Snowden, Interior Style Advisor at Furniture Choice shares some tips on mixing colours with aplomb. "Whether you're looking to introduce some personality or going for a graphic new makeover, colour blocking is a great way to introduce colours and patterns into the home."

"As colour is key in setting the mood and energy of a space, it's crucial to determine the right shades for each room before getting started. A soothing hue like mint is perfect for summer, and offers a refreshing feel in the living room as well as the bedroom. This colour manages to be bright yet soft, working as a chic contrast shade and really shining next to metallic accents."

"Or for a different mood, purple is a huge trend this year - especially with Ultra Violet still going strong. When it comes to integrating this colour into a colour block look, consider its subtler counterpart: lavender. While gentle and romantic, this shade still packs quite a style punch, bringing a hint of drama to spaces like the dining area, and pairing beautifully with dark colours like black for a retro vibe."

This look isn't just about paint and wall colours. "Don't forget other decorative elements, such as cushions, lamps, rugs and vases," says Rebecca. "Go for a summery look with clashing pastel shades, or channel a timeless, sophisticated tone with bold black and graphic patterns."
