A colour that dances between the familiar and the unexpected, sage is the new neutral to watch.

Rebecca Snowden, Interior Style Advisor at Furniture Choice discusses this highly versatile colour and how it works in the home. "Sage's muted tones is a great foundation to decorate around, with both its light shades and darker hues working beautifully as an alternative to creams or greys."

"For a minimal, Scandinavian inspired interior, oak and classic white furniture add a touch of sophistication while keeping things grounded."

"Sage's rich, verdant side gets to shine when paired with timeless neutrals. A beige sofa or a cosy grey fabric bed creates a stylish contrast in a sage coloured room for a calm, welcoming ambiance."

"Reflective elements like glass tie in well with sage's tranquil vibes. Glass table tops lend a sophisticated edge to the dining area, and strategic positioning of a mirror will effortlessly brighten up and energise any room, useful when working with such a calming colour."
