Velvet underground Autumn Winter 2016

Velvet is getting a major style revival. Regal, timeless, and with a comfortable texture that feels as good as it looks, it works on many levels. From small pieces to statement-making options, this luxurious finish easily amps up the style.

Rebecca Snowden, Interior Style Advisor at Furniture Choice, weighs in: "Velvet has a huge advantage as it captures both classic and updated looks. The trick is not to over do it, but let it shine through a few key accents around the home for a modern and elegant approach.

"Velvet is really quite the scene-stealer, so it's only fitting that it takes centre stage at home. For instance, a Chesterfield-inspired sofa in a velvet finish makes a bold approach, particularly in a well-lit space where the texture gets to shine.

"An easy way to introduce velvet to the dining room would be velvet upholstered chairs. This finish works particularly well with classic wooden tables for a rustic-meets-contemporary look.

"To subtly offset this rich, tactile fabric, introduce other textures like linen or wool rugs and throws that play up the cosy, layered vibe."
